Confused Memory:
 At home my Mum & Dad want me to be quiet, but at school they want me to talk?

Long Winded Idea

Creative/Unique Idea:
 We could have animations of horses in the background of the Macbeth play.

Angry Memory:
 When everyone laughed at me in class.

Angry Feeling:
 I felt angry when I didn't speak and say my answers.

Excited Idea:
 I have a hyperactive feeling when I walk out, I feel rebellious.

Bored Emotion:
 I felt bored when there was nothing to do & I didn't know the answers.

Happy emotion:
 I've thought of an answer!

This constellation of Flunstellas was created by young people from year 7 and 8 of Weatherhead High School in Wallasey. The group worked with artist Neil Winterburn to define and design different breeds of Flunstellas. They composed this constellation using a mixture of programming, hands on making and movement based activities.

Flunstellas are FLocks, CLUsters and ConSTELLAtions of ideas, emotions and memories that have been disembodied from individuals and so float through social spaces.

Each Flunstella thought shape represents a different idea, emotion or memory, of a fictional schoolgirl called Charlie. The group devised a drama to explore a classroom scenario that featured 3 schoolgirls, Charlie, Isabel and Jo, and their Teacher, known as Miss. Charlie refused to participate in the lesson and stormed out of the class when her teacher pushed her to get her involved. This Flunstella constellation, created by the girls, might help to explain why...
